BECKHAM ACCEDES TO MANY REQUESTS TO MAKE CAMPAIGN

Former Governor, U. S. Senator
Makes "Best Efforts" Only Campaign Pledge.

CANDIDACY SOLICITED BY MANY IN ALL PARTS

Louisville, Ky., April 8.—J. C. W. Beckham, former governor and United States senator, tonight announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mr. Beckham, who retired from public office in 1921, after being defeated for re-election to the senate by Richard P. Ernst, Republican, said that he has "never been much of a believer in pre-election promises," and "I, therefore, only promise that if I am nominated and elected governor I shall give to the discharge of the duties of the office the best that I have in me."

Mr. Beckham's formal statement follows:

"To the Democrats of Kentucky:

"Since my retirement from public office six years ago it has been my intention; to remain a private citizen and not again to become a candidate for office. After about twenty-seven years of a more or less active participation in the political affairs of the state and nation, having had my share of the honors and difficulties of such an experience, I was well disposed at the close of my term in the United States senate to enjoy the peace and contentment of private life, without losing that earnest interest in the cause of good government and the public welfare which every private citizen should exercise. But for several months a great many people in all parts of the state have been urging me to become a candidate for the office of governor in the Democratic primary next August, and have expressed their belief that I could be of service to the state in that office during the next term.

Yields to Demands.
"These expressions have been of such genuine character and have come from so many of our patriotic citizens that I have concluded that I could not ignore them, regardless of any personal considerations and interests that might tempt me to do so. I have, therefore, decided to offer my candidacy to the Democrats of

A canvass revealed 22 scrub bulls still in Campbell county. Five of these have already been disposed of and 16 other owners have promised to buy purebreds. Illinois Central railroad agricultural agents have been talking fruit growing, dairying and poultry raising among Ballard county farmers.

In Russell county 70 per cent of the bulls now are purebred, while two years ago there were only two purebred bulls in the entire county.

SPLENDID TOURIST CAMP IS BUILT BY TOWN NEAR SQUARE

Strow Lot North of Baptist Church Is Given and Prepared for Visitors.

WATER IS AVAILABLE; CONVENIENCES PLANNED

A splendid tourist camp has been prepared on the vacant lot north of the Baptist church by town officials and visitors to the town are cordially welcomed in a sign at the camp's gate.

Those entitled to credit for the camp are Strow Bros., D. C. and H. H., who own the property and contributed free use of the lot, the town board for co-operating in the work. City Marshall Hardy McGregor, who has supervised the work, Gus Ford, who prepared the welcome sign and Chalmers Etheridge, who did the painting.

The lot, which has been in heavy undergrowth for some time, has been cleared to give much room and enough large trees have been left to make it cool and inviting during the summer. Good water is available nearby, a toilet will be built and a movement is on foot to place a large electric light in the center of the camp.

The site is open to the public as long as the rules of cleanliness and orderliness are observed.

Smith Tells Club of Trip to Old Ireland

Clint R. Smith, vice-president of the Young Men's Progress club and a soldier in the American Expeditionary Forces in France, entertained the club membership last Friday at the regular luncheon with a description of his trip to Ireland, following the war, when he was assigned as a student to Trinity College, in the noted University of Dublin.

Mr. Smith described in his entertaining and inimitable manner many famous scenes in Ireland, which have been long celebrated in story and song including, Lake Killarney, the Blarney stone, the River Shannon.

E. H. Compton, of Morganfield and Mr. Rice, of Paducah, were guests at the club and spoke briefly.

Roy O. Chumler was elected assistant treasurer.

Musical Comedy Earns Encore With Splendid Offering Monday Evening

Remarkably staged and admirably played the members of the cast of "The Garden of the Shah" directed by Mrs. Italy Grippio Connor, of Murray, and presented under the auspices of the Benton Mendelssohn club, thrilled a house marked "S. R. O." here Monday evening. The play was a high compliment to the town in producing such excellent talent for a comic opera and the actors lived up to the expectations of those who are familiar with their ability.

Much credit goes to Mrs. Connor for welding the players into the spirit and action of the play and to Mrs. L. L. Washburn who made the entire orchestra with the piano.

To attempt to pick a star of the production would be hazardous for the writer as well as difficult to decide and it isn't passing the buck in the least to aver that no one stood much higher than the rest, not that there wasn't charm and grace and harmony in the work of the chief roles but alas there were no poor foils to heighten their appearances.

The choruses of both ladies and gentlemen are entitled to special credit for two reasons. Their voices rang out with choir-like clearness and the acting that fell to their lots was admirably executed. In the second place, most choruses, like the scrub football team, are ignored and ignored and good work often goes unheralded and unsung and the chorus that added lustre and atmosphere to "The Garden of the Shah" is hereby extended its share of the glory.

So pleasing was the performance, in fact, that a demand for an encore performance has grown so vociferous that it will again be presented Friday evening, 8:15 o'clock, in the school auditorium.

HARDIN LIME SHED TO BE BUILT SOON

Bank Co-operates With Better
Farming Movement in Community.

The building of the lime shed at Hardin will begin next week according to officers and directors at a meeting Saturday night. These are, J. V. Alford, Pres., U. G. Black, Vice-Pres., D. E. Booker, Sec.-Treas., Chas. Thompson, N. G. Pace, W. K. Jeffrey, C. L. Watkins, J. R. Starks, R. F. Darnall and C. R. Grugall directors.

Fifty-eight farmers and business men have co-operated in the building of the shed by paying the membership fee of $3.00. Every business house in Hardin co-operated by paying the fee and becoming a member of the club. A majority of the farmers near Hardin, and a few farmers in Calloway county have joined the Limestone Club.

D. E. Booker, Chas. Thompson, J. R. Starks, J. V. Alford, N. G. Pace and Prof. Lewis co-operated by obtaining members in the Limestone Club. The Bank of Hardin is co-operating in every possible way to make limestone available to farmers, and without its assistance it is doubted that the shed would have ever been built for storage of agricultural limestone.

The Bank of Hardin recently bought a pure-bred Jersey sire and placed at the disposal of the farmers in that community.

John S. Gardner, Specialist in Truck Crops of the College of Agriculture will be in the county Thursday of this week to plan work with the County Agent.

The Junior Agricultural Club at Calvert will meet Friday of this week at 2:00 P. M.

LAST NOTE ON LIGHT PLANT IS PAID OFF

Town of Benton Now Owes $8,000; Represented by Series of Bonds.

According to the terms of the contract with Fairbanks-Morse Co. the plant was leased with the privilege of buying it for $100 after all the obligations were retired.

The indebtedness of the town is now $8,000, which is represented by a series of bonds. At the present rate of income and expenditure, this obligation will be retired in a relatively short while.

Attendance Down at Sunday Schools

The Christian Church had the only Sunday school in Benton to record a gain in attendance last Sunday over the previous Sunday, all the others showing a sharp decline. The Christian school was able to show an increase of just one.

The total for the day was 536, considerably less than the week before and one of the smallest attendance in several weeks.

The number at each church was as follows:

REGULAR TAX LEVY FOR COUNTY MADE BY COURT TUESDAY

Egner, Education Board Receive Judgment Warrants on Fee Adjustments.

ROAD PROBLEMS WILL BE DISCUSSED HERE SATURDAY

The regular tax assessment for county purposes was made by fiscal court in the regular April session here last Tuesday. The rates are the same as heretofore; 50c for county operation, 20c for roads, 50c for schools and $1.50 poll tax. The state rate remains at 30c, as enacted into law by the 1926 legislature.

The court granted H. A. Miller, sheriff, exemption for delinquent and uncollectable taxes for 1925 and 1926, $828.84 for 1925 and $504.75 for 1926.

The Marshall county board of education and Pete Egner, sheriff, from 1918-1922, received 6 $500 warrants from the county in settlement of a suit brought by the board against Mr. Egner and the county to recover the difference between 1 per cent and 4 per cent for tax collections.

The schools are required to pay one per cent for the collection of their taxes, while the sheriff is entitled to 4 per cent for the collection of all taxes, including those of the schools, it being obligatory on the county to pay the sheriff the other 3 per cent for collecting the school taxes. The law was changed while Mr. Egner was sheriff and he continued the same method of collecting the regular 4 per cent commission from each. The board sued Mr. Egner to recover the difference and the county was made a party to the action since it, and not Mr. Egner, received the money.

All the road commissioners administering the bond issue money will meet with the court at the regular May session, Tuesday, the 19th, for auditing all their accounts.

Court will meet again Saturday of next week for a general discussion of road problems and a road policy for the remainder of the year is expected to be worked out.

Kentucky Needs Beckham

Not only a majority of the Democrats in Kentucky but also practically all the independent voters and a good many Republicans as well welcome the entrance of J. C. W. Beckham into the campaign for governor of Kentucky.

No one can find the slightest ground for implying any other motive than the highest to Mr. Beckham. His political enemies, and some he has of course, will find few vulnerable places to attack him during campaign.

It is to be expected that the other wing of the Democratic party in Kentucky will bitterly assail Mr. Beckham. In fact, the Louisville Herald-City, which is published in a city of about a third of a million and would scarcely do credit to a city the size of Paducah, owned by Jim Brown and the chief defense of the Kentucky Jockey Club, has already begun to attack Mr. Beckham because he is supported by R. W. Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Percy Haley, Kentucky's would be Cardinal Richelieu.

But the rantings of Mr. Brown and his fellow sharers of the Kentucky Jockey Club profits will have little effect upon the voters of the state.

Though we in no wise endorse the activities of either Mr. Bingham or Mr. Haley in Kentucky politics we have long since learned that it is folly to choose politically because someone we admire or dislike is allied for or against a certain candidate.

The people of Kentucky may have the fullest confidence that Mr. Beckham will ally himself with no unwholesome influence. Not only does he desire not to do so but also he has no need to do so.

The Tribune-Democrat believes a long established rule in advocating a particular candidate for any public office but it feels that the occasion fully deserves the exception and we trust that every Democrat voter in Marshall county will cast his ballot for the man best qualified to fill a serious need in the state's executive office.

Miss Cornwell Loses

The Tribune-Democrat does not wish to make it appear that either it, the Benton high school or the town itself with ill grace Miss Cornwell's defeat in the declaratory contest at Murray Tuesday night, and neither three, was a sure, either wish to be known as poor losers or makers of alibis, but it is felt that the circumstances of contest should be explained in justice to Miss Cornwell.

For some unknown reason, the University of Kentucky, which is staging the state contest, follows its usual policy of indecision and uncertainty, declared that only one declaimer from each district should go to Lexington after it was given out that two should represent each district.

Notice was given Miss Cornwell to meet her opponent at Murray after she had already made her preparations to go to Lexington.

The judges who heard the contest are men of unimpeachable integrity but it was only natural that Miss Cornwell was handicapped in their judgment by the fact that they had heard and judged her previously in declamation while they were hearing the Mayfield representative for the first time. We are frankly surprised that they consented to judge under those circumstances.

In meeting this defeat, Miss Cornwell loses gloriously. While a freshman, declaiming her first campaign in formal contests, her victorious opponent is a senior in high school, much older, more experienced and has twice participated in the state contest at Lexington.

Attend the K. E. A.

The Kentucky Education Association was established with the sole purpose of advancing and fostering the best educational standards and achievements for the state. It has done much for the teacher and for the state since it has been established. It will continue to be the spokesman for the interest of education in Kentucky for the years that are to come.

Every teacher ought to give his or her moral support to an organization that is advancing their cause by being a member of that organization.

Every teacher of Marshall county teaching in the schools of the county during the past year is a member of the K. E. A. The teachers by unanimous consent authorized the county superintendent to deduct from their salary the sum of $1.50 to enroll them in the K. E. A. at a meeting in October 1926.

Every teacher that can attend the K. E. A. at Louisville, Ky., April 20 to 23 should go. Teachers will be able to go to Louisville for fare and a half. Those desiring to go should see Roy O. Chumblor, county Superintendent, and secure the round trip certificate, which will enable them to purchase the railroad tickets for reduced fare. It is estimated that a teacher can attend the meetings two days at total cost of $25.00.

FLX BAYONETS

The War at Close Range Described in a Remarkable Series by an Officer of the Marines

Capt. John W. Thomason, Jr.

(Illustrated by the Author from Sketches Made on the Battlefield)

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—The author describes how the First Battalion of the Fifth Marines are quartered near Marigny during the first part of June, 1918, when they are suddenly sent up north to relieve the First division, bearing the brunt of a tidal wave of German assaults breaking through for a great offensive. Part of the Fifth went Hill 142 from the enemy and wait there for the German counter-offensive, they can see forming. While they are waiting the Boche's a detachment of second engineers comes to their assistance.

CHAPTER II.—A terrific German attack soon develops, wreaking fearful havoc among the marines, but not dislodging them. In the immediate vicinity other fierce encounters are reducing the American troops and forcing the necessity of replacements which arrive presently. On the sixth of June the Fifth runs into bitter fighting in the vicinity of Champagne for hours they try to oust the Boche from his stronghold in the woods and succeed commendably, but at great cost.

CHAPTER III.—This narrative centers about the activity of the marines but really stands as a cross section of all the fighting done by Americans. After acquiring themselves marvelously in the fighting done by Americans, they are sent to the front to relieve other fierce encounters are reducing the American troops and forcing the necessity of replacements which arrive presently. On the sixth of June the Fifth runs into bitter fighting in the vicinity of Champagne for hours they try to oust the Boche from his stronghold in the woods and succeed commendably, but at great cost.

The dawn came very reluctantly through the clouds, bringing no sun with it, although the drizzle stopped. The battalion rose from its soggy blankets, kneading stiffened muscles to restore circulation and gathered in disconsolate shivering groups around the gallies. These lads came up in the night, and from them, standing under the dripping pipes, came a promising smell of hot coffee. Something hot was the main consideration in life just now. But the fires were feeble, and something hot was long in coming. This matter finally being disposed of, however, the men cast inquiring eyes about them.

North from the edge of the pines the battalion looked out on desolation where the once grassy, rolling slopes of the Champagne stretched away like a great white sea that had been dead and accursed through all time. Near at hand was Souain, a town of the dead, a shattered skeletons of a place, white shells breaking over it. Beyond and northward was Somme-Py, nearly blotted out by four years of war. From there to the horizon, east and west and north and south, was all a stricken land.

The second-in-command, peering from the pines with other officers of the battalion, could see nothing that moved in all the desolation. Men were there, thousands of them, but they were huddled like animals in the earth. North of Somme-Py, even then, Gourard's hard-fighting Frenchmen were blasting their way through the lines that led up to the last strongholds of the Boche toward Blanc Mont ridge, and over this mangled terrain could be seen the smoke and fury of bursting shrapnel shells and high explosives. The sustained roar of artillery and the infernal clatter of machine-guns and musketry beat upon the ears of the watchers. Through glasses one could make out bits of blue and bits of green gray, flung casually about between the trenches. These, the only touches of color in the waste, were the unburied bodies of French and German dead.

"So this, Slover, is the Champagne," said the second-in-command to one of his non-coms who stood beside him. The sergeant spat. "It looks like hell, sir," he said.

The lieutenant strolled over to where a French staff officer stood with a knot of officers in the edge of the pines, pointing out features of this extended field, made memorable by bitter fighting. "Since 1914 we have fought hard here," he was saying. "Oh, the French know this Champagne well, and the Boche knows it too. Yonder"—he pointed to the southwest—"is the Butte de Souain, where our Foreign Legion met in the first year that Guard division that the Prussians call the 'Cockchafers'. They took the Butte, but most of the Legion are lying there now. And yonder"—the Frenchman extended his arm with a gesture that had something of the salute in it—"stands the mountain of Rheims. I you look—the air is clearing a little—you can perhaps see the towers of Rheims itself."

A long grayish hill lay against the gray sky at the horizon, and over it a good glass showed, very far and faint, the spires of the great cathedral, with a cloud of shell-bore hanging over them.

"All this terrain, as far as Rheims, is dominated by Blanc Mont," he yonder to the north. "As far as the Boche's Blanc Mont he can see the shells into Rheims; he can dominate the whole Champagne sector, as far as the Marine, and the Boche can see the Kaiser watched from Blanc Mont the line that he has here in the A. H. E. Boche means to hang on there. So far, we have failed to dislodge them. I expect"—he broke off and smiled gravely on the circle of officers—"you will see some very hard fighting in the next few days, gentlemen!"

The second-in-command and the captain, that afternoon, were huddled under a small sheet of corrugated iron, stolen by an enterprising soldier from the French gunners. The captain was very large, and the other very lean, and they were both about the same length. They fitted under the sheet by a sort of dovetailing process that made it complicated for either to move.

A second-in-command is sort of an understudy to the company commander. In some of the out-

J. W. Cammack
OWEN COUNTY

J. W. Cammack, of Owen county, candidate for Attorney-General of Kentucky on the Democratic ticket, is one of the outstanding lawyers and public men in the state.

Mr. Cammack made a splendid record while state senator from his district several years ago and also during two years as circuit judge of his judicial district. For 21 years he has been a member of the Board of Regents of the Eastern State Normal, at Richmond, Ky., and during his term has done much constructive work for the state.

Judge Cammack has the unanimous support of his home district and will add strength and ability to the ticket if he receives the nomination.

fits the captain does everything, and his understudy can only mope around and wait for his senior to become a casualty. In others, it is the junior who gets things done, and the captain is just a figurehead. In the Forty-ninth, however, the relation was at its happiest. The big captain and his lieutenant functioned together as smoothly as parts of a sweet-running engine, and there was between them the undemonstrative affection of men who have faced much peril together.

"As for me," remarked the captain drawing up one soaked knee and putting the other out in the wet, "I want to get wounded in this fight. A bon blighty, in the arm or the leg, I think. Something that will keep me in a nice dry hospital until spring. I don't like cold weather. Now who is pushin'? It's nothin' to me, John, if you side leaks—keep off o' mine!"

So the last day of September, 1918, passed with the racket up forward unabated. So much of war is just lying around waiting in more or less discomfort. And herein lies the excellence of veterans. They swear and growl horribly under discomfort and exposure—far more than green troops; but privations do not sap their spirit or undermine that intangible thing called morale. Rather do sufferings nourish in the men a cold, mounting anger, that swells to sullen ardor when at last the infantry comes to grips with the enemy, and then it goes hard indeed with him who stands in the way.

On the front, a few kilometers from where the battalion lay and listened to the guns, Gourard's attack was coming to a head around the heights north of Somme-Py and the strong trench systems that guarded the way to Blanc Mont ridge. Three magnificent French divisions, one of chasseurs, a colonial division, and a line division with a Verdun history, shattered themselves in fruitless attacks on the Essen trench and the Essen hook, a switch line of that system. Beyond the Essen line of the Blanc Mont position loomed impregnable. Late on the 1st of October, a gray, bleak day, the battalion got its battle orders, and took over a mangled front line from certain weary Frenchmen.

Gathering the platoon leaders and non-coms around them, the captain and the second-in-command of the Forty-ninth company spread a large map on the ground weighting its corners with their pistols.

"You give the dope, John," ordered the captain, who was not a man of words, and his junior spoke somewhat in this manner. "Here, you birds, look at this map. The Frogs have driven the Boche a kilometer and a half north of Somme-Py. You see if there—the town you watched them shell this morning. They have gotten into the Prussian trenches this blue line with the wire in front of it. It's just a fire trench, mostly shell-holes linked up. Behind it, quite close, is the Essen trench, which is evidently a hum-dinger! Concrete pill-bores and deep dugouts and all that sort of thing—regular fort."

Keep in Trim!

Good Elimination is Essential to Good Health.

The kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function properly there is apt to be a retention of toxic poisons in the blood. A dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness are symptoms of this condition. Further evidence of improper kidney function is often found in burning or scanty passage of secretions. Each year more and more people are learning the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, in this condition. Scarcely a nook or hamlet anywhere but has many enthusiastic users. Ask your neighbor!

Know the Lumber You Buy!

SHIPS put out to many domestic and foreign ports with cargos of this known lumber for world construction. World trade seeks Long-Bell because of the reputation of its trade-marked lumber. Every year thousands of families come to the day of putting carefully earned savings into lumber for a home. Faith surely guides that transaction—the faith of the buyer in his lumber dealer and in the honesty of value built into that lumber by the manufacturer. Here is a trade-mark that merits the faith of buyers of lumber the world over. Behind this name—behind this trade-mark—are vast forests, gigantic manufacturing plants—and, most important, the united ambition of thousands of skilled men to give the buyer of lumber maximum construction value. This trade-mark on lumber signifies ideals and standards unsurpassed in the industry.

We sell these known dependable lumber products.

STUDENTS TO WRITE ESSAYS ON SAFETY

Three National Winners to Receive Prizes of $250 Each; Limit to 250 Words.

Students in the Benton schools are invited to write essays on safety at railway crossings as part of a nationwide essay contest conducted by the American Railway Association. The invitation comes from J. D. White, superintendent of safety of the Illinois Central System. The essay subject is "Cross Crossings Cautiously," and each essay is limited to 250 words. It must emphasize the need for caution in crossing railway tracks.

In grammar and high schools teachers will select the best essays from their classes and submit them to the principal, who will then select the best one from the school and send it to the county superintendent. The latter will choose the best one by a high school student and the best one by a grammar school student in that county and send them to J. C. Caviston, secretary of the safety section of the American Railway Association at 39 Vesey Street, New York City, not later than June 1. In colleges and universities the proper officer will select one essay and send it direct to the American Railway Association. Three persons of national reputation will judge the essays, selecting the best one by a college student, the best one by a high school student and the best one by a grammar school student. The three winners thus chosen will receive $250 each. "This contest was arranged because of great concern over increase in crossing accidents," Mr. White said. "In 1926 there were 5,921 accidents at crossings in which 2,492 persons were killed and 6,991 were injured. In 1925 there were 5,479 accidents in which 2,206 persons were killed and 6,555 injured."

DRY LAW DEBATED BY G. O. P. LEADERS

Senator Borah, Butler, of Columbia University, Clash Verbally at Boston.

Symphony Hall, Boston, April 8. — "Repeal of the eighteenth amendment is the greatest question since slavery and secession," said Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, tonight.

"Repeal without an alternative would be a return to the old saloon and a retreat from its definite outlawry by the American people eight years ago," continued Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

They were debating what stand the national Republican platform should take in 1928.

In this hall 3,000 persons heard them with opinions already well defined and with redoubled applause for each speaker as he advanced.

Said Dr. Butler: My appeal is from the legislative and judicial branches of the government to the people, for whom they exist; I am in favor of retaining intact every privilege of local government. "I believe the amendment is entitled to full and fair trial; I believe it can be enforced; the American people can and will enforce anything which they write into the constitution."

OBITUARY

On April 1, 1927, the death Angel came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Farley and taken from them their dear sister and aunt, Miss Drucilla Genning age 69 years, she leaves three sisters, Mrs. Rosie Farley, Mrs. Sofia Estes, Miss Julie Genning and host of relatives to mourn her death. She joined the Methodist church at early age. She lived a true life until God saw fit to call her from this world of trouble and worry, to that home on high where there are tear strained eyes with snowy wings. She left us to join the Angel band with smiling face she lingered to greet us by the hand. She is gone but not forgotten. Never will her memory fade. We will not forget you auntie in the cold and silent grave. We must say our last farewell until we meet beyond the river, happy there with thee to dwell for ever. A Neice.

LOWDEN BOOM FOR PRESIDENT STARTS

Former Governor of Illinois
Leader of Farm Improvement Moves.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 14. — Plans were formed today to bring out former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois as a Republican presidential candidate in 1928. With Iowa as a starting point. Republican backers of the former governor intend developing a boom for him throughout eleven midwest states.

Conferences today between Frank J. Lund, former campaign manager of Senator Smith W. Brookhart, and A. C. Gustafson, chief clerk of the Iowa house of representatives, brought the announcement that first work will be confined to Iowa's eleven congressional districts. Following their organization it will be carried to other agricultural states. At a conference at Chicago yesterday Mr. Lowden advised he would consider seeking the nomination provided a sufficient number of agricultural states in the midwest demanded it.

The statement came as the result of a visit from an unofficial Iowa legislative committee headed by Mr. Gustafson.

The former governor expressed a keen desire to remain in private life.

In Memoriam TO NINA STROW

She was my friend—I heard him say:
As she lay so peaceful and still—
Their hearts were full of anguish,
And their eyes with tears did fill.

Oh! When his life is over,
And I reach my journey's end,
It will be sweet to know one soul
Would say—This day I have lost a friend.

Blessed be the tie of friendship,
That binds our hearts with love,
And makes life worth the living,
And Heaven—Our Home above.
Genia Hayden.

About 500 bushels of lespedeza seed has been sown on old ground in Jessamine county this spring. Five carloads of dairy cattle have been taken into Graves county this year, many farmers paying a big premium for cows.

THOMPSON BACK AS MAYOR OF CHICAGO

"Big Bill" Defeats Representative of Good Government, Present Incumbent.

Chicago, April 5. — William Hale "Big Bull" Thompson, Republican mayor of Chicago from 1915 to 1923, today was elected to that office for the third time.

With 115 scattered precincts missing the vote from 2,269 precincts gave Thompson 435,270; Dever, 413,743 and Robertson 48,462.

Thompson who conducted his campaign with a slogan of "America first" won over Mayor William E. Dever, Democrat incumbent, in one of the bitterest and most closely contested elections in Chicago's history. Dr. John Dill Robertson who ran as an independent, offered no serious opposition.

Despite the record breaking vote and the injection into the bitter campaign of personal animosities, religious and race issues the election was singularly free of disorders. Except for a few minor disturbances no trouble was reported, although less than three days ago there had been discussion of calling out troops to maintain order.

Michael Heim, 200 Oakley Street, Evansville, Indiana, an engineer, says: "Telegraphic rheumatism, bad stomach and liver trouble had me in terrible shape. "My strength had vanished. When I walked dizzy spells made me reel. And my stomach was so upset that I couldn't eat without bloating up and suffering from tormenting indigestion. Rheumatic pains in arms and legs made it difficult for me to get about. I had almost given up hope of ever recovering my lost health and strength when I took the advice of a friend and began taking Tanlac. I recommend it to all who are ailing.

"This tonic worked wonders with me. Pain vanished with rheumatism. Quickly my old strength returned. I began to have a great appetite and ate everything without a sign of pain. Tanlac certainly put me on my feet, made me stronger and gave me better health than I have had in years."

Tanlac usually banishes pain, conquers ailments and builds up strength in famished bodies. It relieves the system of poison caused by constipation and sluggish liver. Kentucky, subject to their action in the August primary. In doing so there is no idea in my mind of criticism upon the merits or qualifications of the three worthy and honorable gentlemen who have already announced their candidacies for that office. I entertain a high regard for all of them, and if any one of them should be chosen as the nominee I would cheerfully acquiesce in his selection.

† Promise Easily Broken. "I have never been much of a believer in pre-election promises. Disappointment rather than fulfillment is the usual outcome of them. The zeal of the candidates too often magnifies the possibilities or purposes of his promised achievements. I shall, therefore, only promise that if I am nominated and elected governor I shall give to the discharge of the duties of the office the best that I have in me, with an earnest and enthusiastic purpose to serve to the extent of my ability the people of Kentucky who have so often and so generously placed their trust in me. If I should go into that office next December I shall do so without a single embarrassing obligation or alliance that would in the least hamper me in the effort to give to the people of the state a clean and successful administration of its affairs and of its business."

Service

The Word and the Fact

That abused word "Service"—worn this by much loose, irresponsible handling, must be appraised in connection with the character and resources of the firm offering it.

There are many kinds of Service as there are types of individuals, or houses, differing widely in Scope of efficiency and satisfaction.

In the 40 years of its existence, this house has become identified with atype of service that is the embodiment of these words.

We Are Ready To Serve You

The fastest horses on the track are thoroughbred. The most economical horse for pulling heavy loads is the thoroughbred draft horse. The best-paying livestock—poultry, pigs, sheep, cows—are thoroughbred stock. The best way to achieve efficiency and service in business organization is to be thoroughbred in the community it attempts to serve.

DRAFFEN BROTHERS

DEPARTMENT STORE
CALVERT CITY, KENTUCKY

Watching The Markets

The wholesale market in any commodity is constantly undergoing changes. There's a right time to buy and a wrong time to buy in all the fields of merchandise.

A part of Draffen Bros. service is to keep the closest contact with the market in all the goods that we handle, in order that we may buy most advantageously and consequently sell most advantageously to our patrons.

How well this effort has succeeded may be judged by the fact that our department store had its beginning in a tiny shoe repair shop just 16 years ago.
